School Attendance Mediator (SAM) Training

Length: 15 Hours

Description:

This training is an intensive, participatory introduction to the School Attendance Mediation, or the SAM program, which prepares participants to be SAM Mediators and coaches them on how to initiate and administer a SAM intervention program for their own community public school systems. The focus is on providing mediations to families and their students who have exhibited a chronic pattern of absenteeism. The training introduces conflict resolution theory and teaches the techniques for conducting an effective and productive SAM mediation which gets students back to school and learning. The emphasis is on changing student behavior through non-punitive measures. The training provides simulated learning experiences by including a mediation role-play day with positive, non-critical coaching designed to improve the participant's skills in a non-intimidating environment.

Target Audience:

Community volunteers, educators, retired persons, and youth workers who wish to become an ECR Certified SAM Mediator and help initiate and develop a SAM Program in their communities.

Includes:

A digital and hard-copy manual, additional instructional handouts, and an ECR SAM Mediator Certificate (awarded upon completion of the training.) Participants must attend all four sessions to receive official ECR certification.

Format:

Involves a mix of three, 2.5-hour evening Zoom Sessions & one in-person 7.5-hour role-play day conducted on the Manchester University Campus.

Cost: $450 ($400 per person if a county sends 5 or more participants)

Full scholarships are available to Wabash County residents who agree to conduct 8 mediations for ECR over a three-year period. ECR provides additional on-site training and mentoring. Scholarships are also available to Manchester University students.
